The Secret of Growth Maximizer Pro™ by Jeffrey Corbin

Introduction

Hello friends,

I'd like to spend a few minutes to introduce myself and get to know you a little better. I'm Jeffrey Corbin, and like you, I was looking for something to help give me a height boost a few years ago. I actually looked into all the various height attainment methods at the time, and found that other than prescription medication like growth hormones (which have various side effects), or limb lengthening surgery (which is so expensive and painful), there really wasn't anything in the market for people like me.

I then met up with a few friends in college who were working at scientific laboratory at the time, and one of the very smart scientists there had recently discovered what are now called "metabolic actuators" which help speed up certain biological mechanisms in your body, naturally.

Well I got to thinking; why not try to create something to help people like me (I was 5' 7" at the time) who want to add a little extra height naturally and safely.

Well that was back in 1999. Since then I've had the pleasure of getting together with various different eminent people in the scientific and business communities, and with a little luck and hard work, I came up with Growth Maximizer Pro™. It contains a secret blend of herbal ingredients, including our patented HgX™, which are safe and effective, and help naturally boost your own body's growth abilities so that you can add inches to your frame. Safely and permanently.

Since then I've added 3 and one half inches, and I'm now happy and more energetic than ever, at 5' 10 ½" may I add.

I want to let you guys know a little more about my product, since I know I wish I had the opportunity to try out something like this when I was growing up.

So please sit back and enjoy this complimentary guide, and learn about Growth Maximizer Pro™ and how it can work for you.

Decide to take Control Today with Growth Maximizer Pro™

We all know that life is not merely about existing, it's about living. Most people today only exist; they don't live, especially in today's economic times. But what does it mean to live? It means maximizing your life to the limit, every day, always. Whether you're a college student embarking on your career goals, or married with a family and a mortgage – we all can be doing much more to get the most out of our lives. The key is to plan and think before acting. Many people today lead fast and frenetic lifestyles that they seldom ever get a chance to reflect and plan out their day's activities. This is where proper nutrition and the right supplement can give you the mental edge that you need now more than ever to be successful. This decision to make a change started the minute you decided to learn more about Growth Maximizer Pro™, a revolutionary new approach to height attainment, and download this free guide. So read on, and let's go forward.

Scientists and physicians have published in the United States and Europe over the last 17 years studies that have concluded that nutrition supplements in conjunction with a sound, healthy lifestyle with exercise can greatly benefit a person's daily performance, their ability to grow lean muscle mass, and enhance other normal bodily processes that can even lead to taller height. This can be achieved by increasing normal metabolic processes that allows a person to absorb nutrients (such as calcium and iron) more effectively!

Now what does this have to do with growing taller and maximizing your physical potential? It says that you have a choice of how you can live and improve your physical stature! This is where Growth Maximizer Pro™ can help.

Our revolutionary all natural height attainment supplement is like no other out in the market, and it's been proven to work for thousands! The secret in Growth Maximizer Pro™ is in the proprietary laboratory tested, all-natural ingredients of HgX™, which have been engineered to stimulate your body's own levels of human growth hormone (HGH), the hormone you make in your body that controls your height, work even stronger!

What is HgX™ Why is This Better Than Anything Else?

HgX™ is an herbal blend of 2 metabolic actuators. Garcinia Cambogia Studies showed that this small, sweet purple fruit contains HCA (Hydroxycitric Acid) which has been shown in various studies to suppress height inhibitors and prevent them from attaching to your body. The other metabolic actuator comes from Cascara sagrada, an herb that supports and strengthens the colon, liver, gallbladder and digestive system for optimal human growth performance. These ingredients are safe and all natural.

When these two herbs are combined, the synergistic effect speeds up your body's metabolism, elevating your body's HGH levels naturally and safely. This continual metabolic increase eliminates the usual boomerang effect most height increase products are guilty of. And since HgX™ is coupled with the extreme thermogenic and height increasing properties of Growth Maximizer PRO™, your body will quickly become taller.

The Secret of Growth Maximizer Pro™ by Jeffrey Corbin
Of course, all these benefits are yours, but it all of this starts with visualizing and planning your lifestyle accordingly, and choosing to give Growth Maximizer PRO™ a try right now!

As stated earlier, you don't want to live day by day waking up, going to work (or school), coming home, sleeping, and starting the cycle all over the next day. You need to learn to believe in yourself and "see" yourself actually reaching greatness, whether that is at work, school, your personal life, or simply achieving your own personal goals such as losing weight, adding muscle, or most importantly, growing taller.

Visualization is a powerful tool and with it, it can help anybody tap into their inner self and allow one to achieve goals that were previously considered unattainable. Height Attainment

Growing taller is the desire of all. Recent research has shown that there are benefits to being tall and this is making it even more desirable. There are many methods that have been advocated to achieve height increase. Some methods are temporary such as the use of sole inserts and elevator shoes while others aim to produce permanent or actual gain in height. These include various stretching exercises, prescription medications, surgery, the use of growth supplements. There are two types of growth attainment supplements – liquid form such as Growth Maximizer Pro™, and orals in the form of tablets or pills.

Four Types of Height Attainment Supplements

Growth supplements for height attainment come in different forms but they fall into some broad categories. The first category entails boosting the production of own growth hormone before the fusion of the growth plates. However, at the age of 21 in females and 25 in males, the growth plates fuse and growth in height ceases.

The second category of growth increase supplements utilizes artificial growth hormone which became popular a little over a decade ago. It is, however, fraught with so many side effects that it is often replaced by a third category of growth supplements.

The third category of growth supplements is an attempt to avoid the side effects of artificial growth hormones. This category is comprised of growth hormone analogues or look-alikes. There is yet one other category.

The last category is made up of the amino acids or natural metabolic actuators like those found in the patented HgX™ in Growth Maximizer Pro™. These work on the principle that amino acids are the building blocks of body proteins. There are 22 standard amino acids out of which the body can manufacture 14. The remaining 8 have to be eaten in food and are, therefore, called the essential amino acids. Amino acids are the basic building blocks in your body that are essential for growth and repair.

Actuators such as HgX™ work (via specific molecular mechanisms that are still not clearly understood) by stimulating certain areas in your body to “speed” up its normal functions, such as areas found in your hypothalamus and your pituitary. This combined effect helps increase your own body’s HGH levels in order to stimulate height and vertical bone growth. You can think of amino acids as the individual blocks necessary for growth, and actuators as the accelerator that gives your body “a natural boost.”

Interestingly, while other height attainment products make big claims, they can’t beat the effortless rapid height gain results Growth Maximizer PRO™ gives you. Only Growth Maximizer PRO™ combines unstoppable energy enhancement and HgX™, our own patented height boosting formula into one simple liquid bottle.

You will be able to boost your natural HGH levels by up to 82% and block up to 21 height inhibitors when you take Growth Maximizer PRO™. In addition, Growth Maximizer PRO™ destroys height inhibitors before they attach to the areas responsible for height, which no other natural height attainment supplement can do. These are the essential qualities that make Growth Maximizer PRO™ your only real choice.

Why are Liquid Height Attainment Supplements Better Than Tablets?

Now, height attainment supplements come in various forms. They could be either solid as in tablets or liquid. While both are equally good, there are certain advantages liquid supplements have over the tablet forms.

Convenience

Height attainment liquid supplements such as Growth Maximizer Pro™ are more convenient to use. It is a fact of life that no one would like to take a medication or supplement unless it is absolutely necessary. The reason for this is because most people have a bad memory of bitter pills and would try avoiding pills as much as possible. The taste of pills is often very nauseating especially when they break up in your mouth. This is where liquid height attainment supplements have an obvious edge over tablets.

The Secret of Growth Maximizer Pro™ by Jeffrey Corbin Easier to Swallow

It is not easy to swallow tablets. As stated earlier, not everybody is used to swallowing tablets. The major problem usually lies in the tendency for tablets to break up in your mouth, releasing that unwanted taste and smell. It is for this reason that many folks have tried to develop several complex mechanisms for swallowing tablets. There are those who try to fill the mouth with water before throwing in the tablet and then swallowing. This could be a very tricky procedure for those not used to it because they end up spilling the whole tablet in the throat.

Others try putting the tablet in the mouth before pouring in water and other complex stuff. The good thing is that with liquid height attainment supplements, all these complex manoeuvres are not necessary. You simply pour in or spray the required amount and you are home free. While there are individual preferences as to the use of either liquid or tablet forms of height increase supplements, it appears that most people will find the liquid variety more attractive and easier to use.

Ease of Measurement

Measurement is a very important issue when dealing with medications or natural supplements. Doses can be rightly or wrongly administered with terrible consequences. To measure a liquid, all you do is pour it out into a measure or a spoon, or simply take a pre-determined spray. Tablets are, however, much more complex.

There is a common ignorance about tablets that is an obvious disadvantage compared with liquid supplements. People often break tablets in two in order to divide the dose. However, the only way to be sure you are taking half the dose is to look at the tablet. There is a lot of information displayed on tablets. One of items displayed is the dosage or strength of the tablet. Some tablets also have a straight line across the tablet. The straight line across the tablet is the indication of even distribution of the active ingredient. It is only the tablets that are so marked that can be divided in two to get half the dose. This complexity which is non-existent with liquids makes liquids height attainment supplements like Growth Maximizer Pro™ the preferred choice.

Misconceptions

There is however one tricky bit about liquid and tablet forms of medications in general. This is a misconception but it is very popular among many cultures. Many people have a feeling that tablets are much more effective than liquid varieties of medications and supplements. While there is no empirical proof for this idea, those who feel strongly about it still feel sick even after using liquid medications and will only feel better after using tablets. This is likely due to a placebo effect that some people have towards taking an oral pill verses a spray, cream, injections, gel, or even suppository. A cursory knowledge of basic pharmaceutical principles (which we will not get into) will dispel this misconception and show you that various different routes of use are safe and equally effective.

When compared to injections, the liquid form is the obvious choice because of ease of administration and absence of pain. Another reason why injections are not so popular, however, is because side effects could develop very quickly. This is simply because it takes seconds for injections to go from the hand to the heart. These effects are easily overcome by the use of liquid supplements which could be used under routes like the sublingual route.

It is also known that liquid supplements can be more beneficial than oral forms as well.

It is well known that medications and supplements are not absorbed in the form in which they are swallowed. For example oral tablets have to first be broken down before they can be absorbed into the body system. This usually means that certain organs like your liver have to be functioning efficiently for it to metabolically break down the supplement or drug into the body's "absorbable form" before it goes into the bloodstream.

This means that with the liquid supplements, you enjoy the advantage of immediate absorption without having to incorporate many physiological steps in your body.

The Choice for Natural Height Attainment

As you can see, the choice is obvious when it comes to height attainment supplements. The liquid form in Growth Maximizer Pro™ can't be beat!
